

'BOOKIES' ARREST SCORED BY JUDGE

New York Official Will Hear
Charges Against Policemen.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Denouncing the police for having made arrests at the Gravesend race track, after having enjoyed its courtesy for twenty years, Magistrate Voorhees, in the Coney Island police court, today adjourned the cases of the nine alleged bookmakers taken into custody yesterday until June 22.

He also informed the lawyers for the defendants that if they failed to file complaints against any of the police officers who "assaulted" the bookmakers, he was willing to entertain them.

Two hundred policemen, fifteen plain clothes, and ten lieutenants, together with twenty deputy sheriffs, under First Deputy Sheriff Louis M. Swayzee went to the Gravesend track this afternoon, with strict instruction to keep the betting ring absolutely, and to prevent betting in any form at all hazards.

We will make it impossible for any person either to make or receive a bet in any form at the race tracks," said the prosecutor, Elder, of King county, today, and his declaration, coupled with the attitude of Police Commissioner Bingham, seems on its face to make it certain that the day of the bookmaker in New York is done.

General Bingham declared that he would have more men at Gravesend today than on the first day after the passage of the new law, and would make it an impossibility for even the "whispering and memory" system used yesterday to prevail in future.

It is declared that poolrooms throughout the city already have increased in number since the Agnew law was passed, but District Attorney Jerome anticipates little trouble from this source. Satisfied that there is no loophole to be found by which racing may be conducted in New York with its gambling ban, he has decided that the game is up.

STORIES OF WITCH COST COUPLE $10

Pair Fined for Slandering Neighbor
They Accuse of Following Black Art.

PATERSON, N. J., June 12.—Two bachelors who came to sleep at a neighbor that they had to hark back to the middle ages, were fined $5 each by Recorder Carroll. They were Joseph and Theresa Ferris. Only a little while in this country, the Ferrises tried to make themselves popular among their new acquaintances by saying Mrs. Anne Basile, of 64 Wayne avenue, had been a witch in Italy. So zealous were they in spreading absurd stories about the worthy woman that in a short time they had the whole neighborhood talking.

For did not the Ferris relate in all gravity that in the old country Mrs. Basile was wont to crawl through keyholes and eaves and suck the blood of children? Did they not spread industriously the slander that she seldom sallied from her home save on a broomstick in the dark of the moon? Was it not asserted by them that she had the evil eye, and that she was looking at one she could inflict all the ills that flesh was heir to and then a few? The slanders were traced to the Ferrises by Mrs. Basile and her brother, Mrs. Basile had the new arrivals called to court. The Ferrises vowed they were innocent, but the complainant had a large number of witnesses, and the recorder held the defendants guilty of slander.

GIRL ENDS HER LIFE.
NEW YORK, June 12.—Sadie Saltzstein, twenty years old, was found dead today, a suicide by gas, in her room in the bachelor girls' hotel, the Tromart, at 67 Hudson street. The girl went to her room last night in apparently the best of spirits. Beside the dead girl were found two letters, one to Mrs. Shepard, who has charge of the hotel, and the other to Hattie Klein, a friend of the suicide. Both were taken to the coroner's office.

NEW TELEPHONE EXCHANGES
Two new telephone exchanges will be opened by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company at 5 o'clock this afternoon. One of the new exchanges is known as Columbia, and is for all subscribers north of Florida avenue, east of Rock Creek, and west of North Capitol street. The other, Cleveland, embraces the suburbs of Cleveland Park, Chevy Chase, and Tenleytown. The new names of the exchanges necessitate the changing of 3,000 numbers in the telephone book.

DUTY FIRST.
The hotel was safe. To expedite and aid the inmates to escape, a number of policemen rushed in from the street and groped their way through the smoky halls, shouting helpful instructions simultaneously.

One of these officers forced his way into the kitchen, where the chef was hottest. To his amazement here he encountered a colored man carefully carrying toward a door a heavy pall of will.

"This place is all afire!" yelled the policeman. "Get out of here!"

"Y-a-a, suh," was the earnest reply, "jes 's soon's Ah empty dis out!"—Exchange.

15,000 WOMEN PARADE LONDON

Suffragettes Surprise Themselves by Size of Demonstration.

LONDON, June 12.—London saw her greatest demonstration by suffragettes today, when 15,000 women paraded from the Victoria Embankment to Albert Hall, where addresses were made to as many as could crowd into the spacious auditorium.

The number of women in the line far exceeded the expectation of the most sanguine suffragette and tremendous enthusiasm was created by the imposing spectacle.

The suffragettes did not allow their enthusiasm to lead them astray of the police. Three thousand barmoids took advantage of the suffragettes' parade to have a demonstration of their own, to protest against the licensing bill. They met at Trafalgar square and voiced their opinion in speeches, jeers, and harangues.

MOB STRIPS GIRL AND USES RAWHIDE

DICKSON, Tenn., June 12.—Disregarding her plea that their leader had led astray, a mob stripped a young girl, Anna Craig, of her clothing and whipped her last night in an isolated community seventeen miles west of here. It is charged that the indignity was offered because the girl had changed her affections.

After whipping the girl the mob visited a married man who had been attentive to her, and warned him as to his future conduct.

LAWMAKERS DODGE NEW HAVEN MERGER

Massachusetts Attorney General
Will Bring Suit to Tie Up Boston and Maine Stock.

BOSTON, June 12.—There will be no legislation in Massachusetts this year affecting the New Haven-Boston and Maine railroad merger. The legislature will adjourn today leaving the "merger" question unsettled.

Some time next week Attorney General Malone will start an action in the courts to restrain the New York, New Haven, and Hartford from voting 100,000 shares of Boston and Maine stock.

The first move of the attorney general will be to tie up the stock at least temporarily so that the New Haven cannot vote it. Then he will set about the longer litigation, to secure a decision regarding the constitutionality of the law prohibiting railway mergers.

The number of women in the line far exceeded the expectation of the most sanguine suffragette and tremendous enthusiasm was created by the imposing spectacle.

Who Plunged Into Interior
Regardless of Dangers.

Information of a mysterious woman in Mexico, who may be Mrs. Guinness, the central figure of the Indiana murder mystery, was received at the State Department today in a dispatch from Ambassador Thompson in Mexico City. His dispatch is as follows:

"Following information received by Vice President from Governor Chippas: Five days ago American woman, about fifty years old, stout, about five feet seven inches high, dark blue eyes, light chestnut hair, slightly gray, quick and nervous step, passed by Palenque. Was traveling alone and without baggage and has no letters or recommendation.

The State Department will take no action until the Mexican police, who evidently, sent the communication, to the governor of the province have secured more details.

FIND FLOUR CACHE BURIED DURING WAR

Twelve Barrels of Seized
Union Army Stores Dug
Up in Manassas.

MANASSAS, Va., June 12.—Twelve barrels of flour buried in the streets of Manassas just before the second battle of Bull Run, have been dug up in the center of this city. The flour is damp and musty, smells like stale yeast, and has turned black and lumpy.

A gang of men were at work cutting away some twelve inches of a principal street, to put down macadam, when there was a hollow sound under the pick. Ordered to keep on digging, they found a long trench in which the barrels had been placed, end to end. Some of the barrels were in good condition while the heads had rotted out of others, leaving nothing but the staves.

The find was placed along the streets where it has attracted much attention from the people of Manassas and visitors. The flour was a part of a large seizure of Union stores, which were buried hastily, until the Confederates could return and make away with them safely.

SAYS GOULD LINE REBATED $220,000

Missouri Pacific Also Accused of Giving Cheap Plant to T. H. Bunch Co.

Alleging the payment of rebates aggregating over $200,000 by the Missouri Pacific to the T. H. Bunch Company, grain dealers at Little Rock and Argenta, Ark., the Brook-Rauch Mill and Elevator Company, of Little Rock, today filed complaint with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The petition declares that the Missouri Pacific built on their own property for the Bunch Company, a warehouse at Little Rock, and a warehouse, elevator, and mill, at Argenta, and turned them over for an annual rental.

The petitioner declares that the railroad company pays the annual taxes, and alleges that it pays rebates on grain shipments when delayed. The Brook-Rauch Company asserts this alleged violation of the law has been continuing since 1887. The complainants estimate that the total value of the buildings practically presented to the T. H. Bunch Company, is $700,000, and that the machinery is valued at $150,000, and swear that a fair yearly rental would be $20,000 a year.

Cut and Bruised.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Two women and four men in a taxicab driven by William Sisk, were caught under their overturned and wrecked vehicle early today in the west drive of Central Park, when Sisk lost control of his machine and smashed it against a tree. Sisk was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital in an ambulance, and will die. The women and men in the cab were all bruised or cut, but not seriously hurt.

When the cab entered the park at 110th street, the passengers seemed in a hilarious mood, and their laughter could be heard blocks away. Sisk was making speed. Near Eighty-sixth street the cab shot from the driveway.

"The cries of the women and men were heard by a policeman, who lifted out the imprisoned persons and then the unconscious Sisk. The women were greatly excited—almost hysterical."
